cincinnatiMDjobs.com is up and running

Since its launch date in late August, cincinnatiMDjobs.com (the complimentary on-line service designed to help local physician employers find interested candidates) has received more than 21,500 "hits." These site visitors include nearly 1,200 unique users along with more than 400 repeat users. Once logged on to cincinnatiMDjobs.com, visitors spent an average of 11 minutes on the site.

Currently there are 47 available positions posted at cincinnatiMDjobs.com, representing 40 registered employers. So far, there have been 325 automated candidate/job matches. More that 150 candidates interested in working in Greater Cincinnati are listed in the database. Of those candidates, 50 percent are from outside the Greater Cincinnati area, and 50 percent have more than five years experience in practice.

Concern about an adequate supply of physicians in the Greater Cincinnati area was the driving force behind this initiative. The Academy of Medicine has been actively raising awareness about the supply issue for several years and attributes the successful launch of this initiative to the hard work and dedication of many people. The services of cincinnatiMDjobs.com are provided free of charge to users thanks to funding provided by the Health Improvement Collaborative, a subsidiary of the Greater Cincinnati Health Council. The Collaborative can be reached at 513-531-0267.

In addition to job listings, cincinnatiMDjobs.com, through a partnership with the Greater Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, offers information on working and living in Greater Cincinnati. The site also features networking forums designed for physicians, physicians' spouses, African American and minority special interests, and practice administrators. You can also view local medical practice profiles. Any practice is welcome to enter a profile. To do so, the practice must register first by clicking on the log-in/register button.
